Libraries:
Foundations and Fundamentals in Times of Challenge and Change

Virginia Library Association
2009 Annual Conference
Williamsburg, Virginia
October 29–30, 2009
Welcome to the 104th annual Virginia Library Association conference. We come together to celebrate libraries and librarianship, to learn and be encouraged by our colleagues’ ideas and accomplishments, to be introduced to new ideas and trends, and to be inspired by our keynote speakers.

The theme for this year’s conference is Libraries: Foundations and Fundamentals in Times of Challenge and Change. Our theme highlights the fact that the roles of libraries become especially critical during economically difficult times. Often experiencing budgetary trials of their own, libraries throughout the Commonwealth continue to provide a foundation for communities to prosper and grow.

This year’s conference promises to be one of our best. The programs focus on meeting today’s challenges with enthusiasm and creativity. Guest speakers are Adriana Trigiani, an accomplished author and playwright, and Leonard S. Marcus, a respected and talented writer, historian and critic. In addition to the traditional offerings, the ACRL is hosting a first time ever “conference within a conference” with sessions and programs geared toward “User Centered Libraries.” As you enjoy our many activities, don’t forget to visit the exhibits and vendors in the exhibit hall. It is their support that enables us to have a successful conference.

Be sure to join us on Thursday evening for a great night filled with music, dance, and humor. IONA, one of the leading Celtic groups in the mid-Atlantic region, will entertain us with their rich blend of traditional Celtic music and original acoustic arrangements. Audience participation is expected and encouraged.

During your stay in Williamsburg, please take the opportunity to experience some of the great attractions the area has to offer. There are wonderful restaurants, shopping outlets, libraries, and historical sites to tour and discover. I am pleased to welcome you to the 2009 VLA conference and to historic Williamsburg. I am sure your time with us will be fun-filled and beneficial.

Tour

Join Bea Hardy, Director of Swem Library’s Special Collections Research Center, for a very special behind-the-scenes tour of one of Virginia’s largest special collections facilities. See the bursar’s accounts of college student Thomas Jefferson and the original Frenchman’s Map of Williamsburg. Marvel at the skill of the artists who painted the fore-edges of books and peek into an 18th-century library. These treasures and more await you on the campus of The College of William and Mary; we look forward to seeing you!

If interested please sign up using the conference registration form. Directions and parking information will be sent to you. There is no cost for the tour.

Look for folks wearing New Member and 1st Time Attendee ribbons and please welcome them to the conference.

Adriana Trigiani is beloved by millions of readers around the world for her hilarious and heartwarming novels. Adriana was raised in a small coal mining town in southwest Virginia in a big Italian family. She chose her hometown for the setting and title of her debut novel, the critically acclaimed and bestselling Big Stone Gap, followed by the sequels Big Cherry Holler, Milk Glass Moon, and the fall 2006 release Home to Big Stone Gap. Lucia, Lucia, The Queen of the Big Time, Rococo and Very Valentine were all instant New York Times bestsellers. Adriana also teamed up with her family for Cooking With My Sisters, which was co-authored by her sister Mary, with contributions from their sisters and mom; the cookbook-memoir features recipes and stories dating back a hundred years from both sides of their Italian-American family. Adriana’s novels have been translated and sold in over 30 countries around the world.

Trigiani’s latest blockbuster Very Valentine, the first in a series, debuted at number nine on the New York Times bestseller list following its February 2009 debut. In this contemporary family saga, 33-year-old Valentine Roncalli must save her family’s custom made shoe company — one of the last family owned businesses in Greenwich Village — while juggling the personal demands of love, family ties, and an unexpected trip to Italy. The novel’s sequel, Encore Valentine, will debut in February 2010.

Trigiani is also working on a young adult novel, the first of three in a series titled Viola in Reel Life, which will debut during fall 2009. Adriana wrote the screenplay for and will direct the big screen version of her novel Big Stone Gap, which will go into production this summer, and has also written the film adaptation of Lucia, Lucia.
Critics from the Washington Post to the New York Times to People have described Adriana’s novels as “tiramisu for the soul,” “sophisticated and wise,” and “dazzling.” They agree that “her characters are so lively they bounce off the page,” and that “…her novels are full bodied and elegantly written.” Her novels have been chosen for the USA Today Book Club, the Target Bookmarked series, and she’s now officially a regular with Barnes & Noble Book Clubs, where she has conducted three online book clubs. Adriana speaks to book clubs from her home three to four nights a week. Her books are so popular around the world that Lucia, Lucia was selected as the “best read of 2004” in England by Richard and Judy.

After graduating from Saint Mary’s College in South Bend, Indiana, Adriana moved to New York City to become a playwright. She founded the all-female comedy troupe “The Outcasts,” which performed on the cabaret circuit for seven years. She made her off-Broadway debut at the Manhattan Theatre Club and was produced in regional theatres of note around the country. Among her many television credits, Adriana was a writer/producer on The Cosby Show, A Different World, and executive producer/head writer for City Kids for Jim Henson Productions. Her Lifetime television special, Growing up Funny, garnered an Emmy nomination for Lily Tomlin. In 1996, she wrote and directed the documentary film Queens of the Big Time. It won the Audience Award at the Hamptons Film Festival and toured the international film festival circuit from Hong Kong to London. Adriana then wrote a screenplay called Big Stone Gap, which became the novel that began the series. Adriana spent a year and a half waking up at three in the morning to write the novel before going into work on a television show.

Adriana is married to Tim Stephenson, the Emmy award-winning lighting designer of the Late Show with David Letterman. They live in Greenwich Village with their daughter, Lucia.

Perhaps one popular book critic said it best: “Trigiani defies categorization. She is more than a one-hit wonder, more than a Southern writer, more than a woman’s novelist. She is an amazing young talent.”

Join us to hear IONA. Dessert and coffee will be served along with a cash bar. Don't forget to bring your ticket for a free glass of wine or beer! (Ticket provided in your registration packet.)

IONA’s music is a unique, acoustic weave of the traditional music of Scotland, Ireland, Wales, Cornwall, Brittany (France), the Isle of Man, Asturias and Galicia (Spain), as well as their transplants in America. Blending songs, dance tunes, and airs into a rich and stunning tapestry, their style is outstanding in an arena where these traditions are seldom intertwined.

Conceived in 1986, IONA was the musical offspring of lead singer, bouzouki, guitar and bodhrán player Barbara Ryan and wind section, Bernard Argent. With fiddlers Jim Queen (banjo and vocals as well) and bass guitar player Chuck Lawhorn, IONA has become the leading Celtic group in the Mid-Atlantic region. They are all seasoned performers: entertainers who involve their audiences with the history and cultural backgrounds of the music, with teaching words to the songs—even those sung in a Celtic tongue, with leading simple Breton dances, with humor, and with every emotion in the spectrum.

An IONA show is known for:
1. Traditional Celtic Material
   The haunting songs, toe-tapping dances and the humor of the Celtic peoples from Scotland to Brittany provide IONA with an incredibly varied repertoire
2. Original Acoustic Arrangements
   All the members of the band play several instruments, often switching within a piece to achieve their unique sound. They weave tunes from different countries around their songs, pursuing complex rhythms with deft professionalism.
3. Lively Entertaining Presentation
   Above all, IONA’s performances are FUN! Barbara and Bernard teach audiences words to their songs (some in Celtic languages!), lead them in clapping and even encourage them to dance!

The Jefferson Cup Luncheon will be held on Friday, October 30 at 12:30 in Room 18. Ticket sales are limited to 150 on a first come first served basis.

The 2009 Jefferson Cup Award Winner is George Washington Carver, by Tonya Bolden.

Shampoo from peanuts? Wallpaper from clay? Ink from sweet potatoes? Discover Carver’s imagination and inspiration in this one-of-a-kind biography.

With imagination and intellect, George Washington Carver (1864–1934) developed hundreds of unexpected products from everyday plants. This book reveals what an exceptionally uncommon man Carver was: trailblazing scholar, innovative scientist, pioneering conservationist, and impassioned educator.

This book follows his life from slave and orphan to his college days as the first African American to attend Iowa State College (where he later taught), and on to his life and work in the field of agriculture. Illustrated with historical artifacts and photographs, the book traces Carver’s life, discoveries, and legacy.

Tonya Bolden has written more than twenty books for children and adults. Her book Tell All the Children Our Story: Memories and Mementos of Being Young and Black in America was named a Best Book of the Year by School Library Journal. Her Wake Up Our Souls: A Celebration of Black American Artists received a starred review in Booklist magazine. Maritcha: A Nineteenth-Century American Girl was named a YALSA Best Book for Young Adults, an ALSC 2006 Notable Children’s Book, a NAPPA Gold Award Winner, a CCBC Best Book of the Year, a New York Public Library Book for the Teen Age, and a Coretta Scott King Honor Book. She lives in New York City.
2009 VLA Scholarship Winners

This year VLA is able to award four $2500 scholarships: two are sponsored by the VLA; one is sponsored by the VLA Foundation; and this year, one is sponsored by the Tidewater Area Library Director’s Council. We deeply appreciate these two additional scholarships being made available for 2009.

VLA Clara Stanley Scholarship

Deborah Sweeney from the Augusta County Library is the 2009 recipient of the VLA Paraprofessional Forum Clara Stanley Scholarship. Deborah began working at Augusta County Library in 1998 as a Library Assistant; she has made advancements within the library and is currently the Assistant Director. She has been an active member of VLA since 2002, and is a member of ALA and PLA. She attended the PLA Conference in 2008. She has been active in organizations within her community for several years. She is earning her MLIS degree at the University of North Texas and will complete her degree in 2010.

VLA Scholarship

Megan Hodge is the recipient of the 2009 VLA Scholarship. Megan is Circulation Supervisor at the McGraw-Page Library of Randolph-Macon College. She has been a member of VLA since 2007, and is also a member of ALA, NMRT, ACRL, LLAMA, LSSIRT, SRRT, and LITA. She served on the VLACRL Conference Planning Committee for 2008-2009. She is active in community organizations, and has been a volunteer at the Richmond Public Library. She currently is a book reviewer for the Library Journal. She is earning her MS in Library Science from the University of North Texas and will complete her degree in 2010.

VLA Foundation Scholarship

Lisa Blydenburge-McGuinness is the 2009 recipient of the VLA Foundation Scholarship. Lisa began working at the Loudoun County Public Schools in 2005 and is currently a Library Assistant. She has been a member of VLA since January 2009. She has been active in community organizations. She will begin her MSLS degree from Catholic University of America, DC, in the summer of 2009, and will complete her degree in 2012.

Tidewater Area Library Director’s Council Scholarship

Kelly Bevins is the 2009 recipient of the Scholarship being given this year by the Tidewater Area Library Director’s Council. Kelly is employed as a Library Information Specialist II at the Central Library in Virginia Beach. She has been a member of VLA since 2008, and currently serves on the Library of Virginia Youth Service Advisory Committee. She is also a member of ALA. She has been involved in her community’s Youth and Family Services Team Kelly is earning her Master of Library Science degree from Florida State University and will complete her degree in 2009.

2009 VLA Award Winners

Friends of the Library Award
Friends of the Jefferson-Madison Regional Library

The 2009 Friends of the Library Award will be presented to the Friends of the Jefferson-Madison Regional Library for their continued support of local and statewide library services over the past forty-four years. Almost all of the funds donated by the Friends group are generated from the very successful book sale, held at the Gordon Avenue Library annually since 1964. Most of the funding helps to support local library services for children and young adults, while also supporting statewide library activities such as annual donations to VLA for legislative activities, the VLA Scholarship fund, the VLA Foundation, the Virginia Festival of the Book, and the library at the Fluvanna Correctional Facility for Women. The Friends of the Jefferson-Madison Regional Library also established the first library endowment fund in the Charlottesville Area Community Foundation in 1992, with a gift of $20,000. Since that time, four additional library endowed funds have been created, to which the Friends group also provides support.

Honorary Life Membership
Alan Bernstein

The 2009 Honorary Life Membership will be awarded to Alan Bernstein for a lifetime of service to the library profession, Virginia libraries, and the Virginia Library Association. Mr. Bernstein faithfully served as the VLA Reporter at the Board of the Library of Virginia meetings for nearly twenty years. His clear reporting produced a regular feature in the VLA Newsletter, providing readers a window into current Board issues as they occurred. Mr. Bernstein’s writing skills were also evident in his positions as a writer for Academic American and as an editor for Colliers Encyclopedia. Additionally, Mr. Bernstein served as the Outreach Librarian for the Handley Library in Winchester, and recently retired from the Heritage Public Library in Providence Forge as their Library Director.

George Mason Award
“All HENRICO READS: Linking Libraries, Communities, and Cultures”

Responding to a recent surge in the area’s Hispanic population, the Henrico Public Library and Henrico County Public School system identified a need to create programs which encourage community discussion about immigration and its related political issues. Building on the ALA’s “Linking Libraries, Communities, and Cultures” theme, they invited Latina author Julia Alvarez to participate in their 2008–2009 ALL HENRICO READS partnership project. Waiving her usual speaking fee, Ms. Alvarez agreed to a two-day speaking engagement, offering a large-audience evening event as well as small-group sessions with area students the following day. Build up to the grand event included such opportunities as participating in the annual Que Pasa Festival in Richmond, book discussions at the area Spanish Immersion Center, and even an unexpected censorship incident in which parents objected to their children reading Alvarez’s book How the Garcia Girls Lost Their Accents. The advertising, conversation, and controversy helped to draw a crowd of well over 1000 participants, which assisted in achieving the program’s goal of educating the community about the immigration experiences of their local Hispanic families. Undoubtedly, the most heart-warming members of the gathering were those Hispanic families who not only came to hear Ms. Alvarez speak, but waited hours after the program with other audience members to see her, talk with her, and share their own immigration stories.

Trustee Library Award
Larry Yates, Lonesome Pine Regional Library Board

Larry Yates, the Chairman of the Lonesome Pine Regional Library Board, will be given the 2009 Trustee Library Award for his work in creating the new Haysi Community Library in Haysi, Virginia. As a selfless volunteer devoted to his community, Mr. Yates recognized the need to relocate the existing Haysi library to a larger, more accessible location. In order to accomplish this, Mr. Yates rolled up his sleeves and solicited the help of the community at large. With his guidance, the town was able to locate a building and raise funding for its renovation through bake sales, book sales, and carnival booths. Mr. Yates recruited volunteers to help with the renovation, even managing the construction crews himself so funding could be spent on materials rather than labor. Often found digging water lines or installing shelves, his response when faced with funding or construction setbacks was always “I know someone who…” Currently the Mayor of Haysi, Mr. Yates has proven himself to be a dedicated leader, motivating the entire community to get involved as they worked together to build a new library.

Face(book)ing the facts: A librarian’s guide to surviving Facebook
Social networks are increasingly popular tools for personal communication. Large numbers of patrons use Facebook or similar websites daily, but can libraries use Facebook effectively? Our presentation will provide an overview of Facebook and its use in an academic library setting.

Dialogue with Directors: Library Leaders Answer Your Burning Questions
Join us for a candid question & answer session with a panel of Virginia library directors. Panelists will address questions submitted anonymously beforehand along with ones posed by attendees. Sponsored by the Leadership Development Forum.
Presenters: Sandra Treadway, Library of Virginia; John A. Moorman, Williamsburg Regional Library; Wendell Barbour, Longwood University; Sylvia Rortvedt, Northern Virginia Community College; and Scott Firestine, Appomattox Regional Library. Moderator: Elizabeth Hensley, Culpeper County Library.
More for Your Money: Using Grants as Leverage
Most of us think of grants solely as a means to procure funding. In today’s ever-changing and highly connected world, grants can do much more for your organization than simply provide a source of money. This workshop will address some grant basics, but will focus primarily on how to leverage grants to shape more innovative programming, improved community relations, new and invigorating partnerships, and even, future grant proposals!
Presenters: Shari Henry and Mike Mabe, Chesterfield County Public Library.

The Devil is in the Detail: Building a User-Centered Collection
For a mid-sized, academic library without subject specialist for most fields, a year-long analysis of our collection using a commercial product was challenging. Hear how our project was ultimately worthwhile and resulted in a collection more focused on user needs.
Presenters: Gail Flatness and Katherine Absher, Marymount University.

How to Become a Passport Acceptance Facility
How to go about it, criteria of the agent, training, and benefit to the Library.

What Our Users Are Telling Us: A Simple Method of Analyzing Survey Comments
Surveys of our users often yield many comments. Their insights are often underutilized due to the difficult and time-consuming nature of qualitative analysis. Using only Excel, ClinTools freeware, highlighters, and the quantitative method introduced here, one person can uncover basic patterns of user satisfaction from their comment data.
Presenter: Eric Ackermann, McConnell Library, Radford University.

Learning to Share: Research Guides as Web 2.0 Tools of Interaction and Collaboration
Listen to the story of Longwood librarians who bought LibGuides to guide students through the research labyrinth. They created research guides in their own image and lived happily ever after…until one day librarians sought students’ opinions and collaborated with the academic community. Learn how those adventures made them rewrite their story.
Presenter: Tatiana Pashkova-Balkenhol, Longwood University Library.

How to Score the Score: Copyright Friendly Music in your Library
This presentation will discuss online government and company resources for copyright research in music. After a brief general copyright discussion, the session, which will cover both music recordings and scores, will take the participant through the entire research process from determining copyright holders and investigating copyright renewals to researching orphan works.
Presenter: Ana Dubnjakovic, Virginia Tech.

What’s Hot in Romance?
Let’s discuss the newest trends in the romance industry. Discuss the pros and cons of each new trend and how you can put it to use for your library. Learn what titles and publishers are HOT and which are not.
Presenter: Randi Wines, Roanoke Public Library.

Crossing Over
Crossover fiction bridges the gap between adults and teens. This trend is quickly growing — don’t let your library fall behind! Come learn how you can incorporate this growing trend into your library — learn about programming, purchasing and displaying new materials. Let’s capture the attention of both teen and adult readers.

THURSDAY 4:00–4:45 ROOM 2

Polish Your Diamond(s) in the Rough: Building Staff through Big Changes and Small Adjustments
Do you need help figuring out how to incorporate staffing changes into your library’s strategic plan? CCPL needed to increase professional staff and utilize personnel resources in a more effective way. After 1-1/2 years of investigating benchmark libraries, we justified the additions and adjustments in a written plan that allowed us to communicate with county administration and board members the measures necessary to move forward. Join us as we share our process and our written plan.

FRIDAY 11:30–12:15 AMPHITHEATER

Case of the Millennials Mysterious Searching Habits

Much has been made of the search habits of “millennials,” who have grown up with the Internet for information. But when students need more in-depth or scholarly information, what do they really do? Lucy Holman will share the results of her research into millennials’ search behaviors and the curious inconsistencies she discovered.

Presenter: Lucy Holman, University of Baltimore.

FRIDAY 11:30–12:15 CENTER LOUNGE

This, That or Both? Comparing the Usability of Results from LibQual+® and a “Home Grown” Customer Satisfaction Survey

A comparison of results from a Library Customer Satisfaction Survey to those from LibQUAL+®, a survey developed and sponsored by the Association of College and Research Libraries, demonstrates how a variety of assessments maximize communication with library users to make service enhancements.

Presenters: Sandra Yaegle and Sara Baron, Regent University.

FRIDAY 11:30–12:15 AUDITORIUM

The Balanced Scorecard: How to Adapt Business-Centered Principles to Your Library

Particularly in today’s economic climate, libraries have to implement solid business principles in order to stay viable. This session will teach you how to use Balanced Scorecard principles to align your staff, services, facilities, and resources with your library’s mission. We’ll look at who we are, how we do what we do, cause/effect relationships in the workplace, formulating a plan, and measuring progress.

Presenter: Mike Mabe, Chesterfield County Public Library.
FRIDAY 11:30–12:15 ROOM 16

Circulation Staff as Reference “Assistants”
In the fall 2008, the Library of Virginia began training Circulation Staff on Reference resources and services. Originally designed to enhance referrals at the Circulation Desk, Circulation staff now work alongside librarians at the Reference Desk. This session will discuss how the Library developed and has benefited from the program.
Presenter: Suzy Szasz Palmer, Library of Virginia.

FRIDAY 11:30–12:15 ROOM 3

How to Choose: Faith Based Fiction and Non-Fiction
Of increasing concern to librarians is the issue of self censorship in various “sensitive” areas. How do you balance community needs and standards with a commitment to Intellectual Freedom? What is and is not suitable for YA and juvenile collections? What role might your own views play? How do you deal with the concerns of individuals and groups on opposing sides of the debate? We will look specifically at the area of Faith Based Literature in this light.
Presenters: Doug Henderson, Loudoun County Public Library and Barry Trott, Williamsburg Regional Library.

FRIDAY 11:30–12:15 ROOM 11

What is the Focus?! Zooming in on Student Needs
In a world where students find information sources themselves, contact between librarians and students can be limited. In this presentation, librarians from the University of Virginia will report on a multi-phase assessment project designed to answer the question, “What are our students working on, and how can we help?”
Presenters: Matt Ball and Meridith Wolnick, University of Virginia.

FRIDAY 11:30–12:15 ROOM 2

Presenter: Dr. Robert Ellett, Joint Forces Staff College.

FRIDAY 2:15–3:00 AMPHITHEATER

Non-Traditional Users and Donors: Desegregation of Virginia Education (DOVE) Project
A new initiative, the Desegregation of Virginia Education (DOVE) project, is attracting non-traditional users to academic libraries by documenting a turbulent era in Virginia educational history. Led by Old Dominion University Libraries Special Collections, the statewide DOVE project is identifying, locating and preserving material related to Virginia's school desegregation process.

Presenters: Sonia Yaco, Old Dominion University and Dr. Beatriz Hardy, College of William and Mary.

FRIDAY 2:15–3:00 ROOM 17

Just the Ma’am Facts: Women’s Nonfiction
Nonfiction books marketed to women are hotter than ever, but libraries, booksellers, and publishers have been slow to notice. Learn about this reading interest and discover how you can better serve the readers at your library. We’ll discuss collection development, readers’ advisory, and forthcoming hot titles.

Presenter: Jessica Zellers, Williamsburg Regional Library.

FRIDAY 2:15–3:00 ROOM 2

Beyond 20 Things: Practical Uses for the Social Web
Curious about the “brave new world” beyond Web 2.0 learning projects like 23 Things? See how one library system uses sites such as YouTube, MySpace, and Flickr to create videos, subject guides, scrapbooks, and more to enrich daily library operations and enhance and extend public service in their communities.

Presenters: Sherida D. Bradby, Donna-Jo Webster and Carolyn Garner, Pamunkey Regional Library.

FRIDAY 2:15–3:00 AUDITORIUM

Library School from Afar
Distance education has grown exponentially and library schools across the nation have answered the call. The distance education experience of the presenters will be shared — the good, the bad, and the ugly of DE, so to speak. Attendees will learn what it is like to pursue graduate education from afar, in virtual classrooms, with real time results.

Presenters: Jamie B. Price, Jefferson College of Health Sciences and Maryke Barber, Hollins University.

FRIDAY 2:15–3:00 ROOM A/B

Making Sense of Big Dollars
Feasibility, prospect identification, creating the case, making the ask…it’s all about trustees and directors building relationships in the community. Daunted? Don’t be! Learn the hard won lessons of other libraries. Especially in tough economic times, it’s critical to strategize, develop key relations and integrate fundraising into your way of doing business.

FRIDAY 2:15–3:00 ROOM 11

Building your Music Collection: A Few Basic Survival Skills for Acquiring CDs and Scores While Coping with Music Terminology
Join Erin Mayhood, Head Music Librarian at the University of Virginia, as she demystifies music collection development. The session will focus on exploring some free tools available to assist with selecting CDs and music scores for your collections, choosing vendors, and making sense of the language of music materials.
Presenter: Erin Mayhood, University of Virginia.

FRIDAY 2:15–4:00 AUDITORIUM

Succession Planning for Everyone, Starting Now
Nearly 50,000 librarians will turn 65 between 2010 and 2019, many of them managers. Who are the GenXers and millennials waiting in the wings, and what should we all be doing now? Beyond handing over the keys and the procedures manual, what’s the succession plan in your library?
Presenters: Carol Sirwell and Sylvia Rortvedt, Northern Virginia Community College.

FRIDAY 3:15–4:00 AMPHITHEATER

Library Research Awards: Promoting the Library’s Role in Student Academic Success
For the past 4 years, our library has provided two $500 awards to undergraduate students who show creative and original library research in their coursework. Find out how library research awards can be developed as an unusual marketing technique to promote students’ achievements and how libraries contribute to that success.
Presenter: Candice Benjes-Small, Radford University.

FRIDAY 3:15–4:00 CENTER LOUNGE

Keeping Up With Users: Assessing the Training Needs of Staff to Maximize User Centered Libraries
User centered libraries require responsive staff to meet the diverse needs of our constituencies. This project shares findings of a training needs assessment conducted at 16 member libraries of the Virginia Tidewater Consortium (VTC) and provides a progress report on how the results are being used.
Presenters: Sara Baron and Faye Watkins, Regent University.

FRIDAY 3:15–4:00 ROOM 17

Man Fiction: Give ’em What They Want
Male readers, what do they want to read? Do we provide them with the books they are looking for? These patrons are often overlooked when materials are purchased. Come see what new topics are hot in this publishing industry and explore many of the upcoming titles.

FRIDAY 3:15–4:00 ROOM 2

How to Go From 0–80 in One Year: Implementing Successful Teen and Adult Programs on a Tight Budget
Learn how Suffolk Public Library went from offering no teen and adult programming to hosting over 80 programs in one year’s time. We will share our strategies for planning, marketing, and executing successful programs that meet community needs, even with a small staff, limited funding and no dedicated meeting space.
Presenters: Olivia DiLeonardo and Julie Darnell, Suffolk Public Library.
Down with 741.5: A Graphic Novel Approach

Are your graphic novels languishing in 741.5? At the Williamsburg Regional Library, we developed a homegrown classification system, and circulation is soaring. Learn how you can repackage your graphic novels into an intuitive, browsable, user-friendly collection. We’ll discuss issues such as age levels, cartoons vs. novels, and cataloging issues.

Presenters: Jessica Zellers, Jeanette Navia, Jennifer Mitchell and Jean Marie Taylor, Williamsburg Regional Library.

Tough Times Call for Tough Leaders

Assess your leadership style. Now, more than ever, libraries need strong leaders. Librarians and trustees need to be versatile and agile, especially in the midst of turmoil and uncertainty. Learn how to adjust your style and apply the most effective leadership techniques when your library is confronted by budget cuts and other critical challenges that require skilled dialogue with decision-makers.

Presenters: Pam Fitzgerald and Nancy Davis, The Ivy Group.

Bold Decisions: Service & Resource Model Changes in an Academic Library

What if your library had few or no books? Would you still be a library? Yes! The UVA Education Library’s shift to an embedded librarian service model serves as the session’s exemplar. The presenters will focus on the precipitating circumstances, planning and implementation efforts, resources and services now offered, and what it takes to make this venture a success.

Presenters: Kay Buchanan, Carla Lee and Carole Lohman, University of Virginia.

Translational medicine is an emerging and important new field in science that requires collaboration across multiple disciplines. It is the process in which basic research moves from discoveries in the laboratory to actual clinical applications that will improve human health care around the world.

Basic biomedical research has seen tremendous progress throughout the world in the last few decades. However, as far as the treatment of human disease, progress has not kept pace with that of biomedical research. Science Translational Medicine provides a current understanding of the diverse streams of knowledge that will have a direct impact on public health.

By posing critical questions Science Translational Medicine will help improve the multidirectional process where basic research informs clinical research, and clinical research informs basic research. This resource will be the forum where basic and clinical researchers can share their knowledge to help improve human health care. Research that comes from the lab will now find its beneficial expression in patients.
Earn your Master’s in Library and Information Science from the University of North Texas by participating in only two four-day Web Institutes at the James Madison University Libraries and complete the rest of your degree online!

“UNT’s online MSLS program has been really convenient because I’ve been able to work on my degree while carrying on with the rest of my life. I’ve been able to work on it whenever it best fits my schedule: on my lunch break, while visiting family, at 2am. This has allowed me to continue working full-time and also get involved with ALA and VLA so I can hit the ground running once I earn my degree.”

Conference within a Conference: User-Centered Libraries

The Virginia chapter of the Association of College & Research Libraries (VLACRL) is pleased to welcome you to the first-ever VLACRL Conference, “User-Centered Libraries.” We are proud to present 14 concurrent sessions, including invited speaker Lucy Holman and 13 peer-reviewed programs representing the cutting edge of academic librarianship, from instruction to assessment to web development. All of our programming (listed on the next page) will be in the Amphitheater and the Center Lounge.

We also encourage you to attend our VLACRL business meeting, held at 12:00 Thursday during the lunch break, where we will elect officers and discuss programming ideas. All are welcome. Also, please feel free to talk to any chapter officer any time during the conference if you have suggestions or would like to become involved.

We sincerely thank VLA for encouraging this collaboration, and working with us over the past year to build our conference-within-a-conference. We hope you will take advantage of the opportunities to hear the VLA keynote speakers, attend other sessions of interest to you (there are additional sessions presented by academic librarians in the general schedule), and visit the Exhibits.

—Your VLACRL Executive Board (Mark Lenker, chair; Craig Amos, co-chair; Candice Benjes-Small, secretary/treasurer; Luke Vilelle, past chair)

-------------VLACRL’s Conference Poker Run-------------

Win a free VLACRL spring program registration by playing VLACRL’s Conference Poker Run. At each VLACRL session, attendees will receive one playing card to add to their poker hand (up to a limit of five). When your hand is full, or before you leave the conference, show your hand to a VLACRL officer in the Amphitheater. The attendee with the best poker hand will receive a free registration for VLACRL’s spring program!

Ranking of Poker Hands*

| 1. Five of a Kind       | 6. Flush (any 5 cards of the same suit) |
| 2. Royal Flush          | 7. Straight (5 cards in sequence; suit doesn’t matter) |
| 3. Straight Flush       | 8. Three of a Kind                      |
| 4. Four of a Kind       | 9. Two Pairs                            |
| 5. Full House (Three of a kind combined with a pair) | 10. Pair |
